The name of the fizzy drink "Core" was inspired from amongst the books about psychology related issues. While drinking the fizzy drink I thought of the word soul. Then I thought of associating the word "soul" with the word "spirit". In the end I chose "core" because the core of people's spirit enables them to better understand and recognise themselves.

As the global beverage market becomes increasingly competitive, a variety of new and unique beverage products continue to emerge. Because in contemporary times, soft drinks have become universally loved by all generations around the world. Because people love the scents of flowers and love life. Therefore, I decided to create a drink that combines flowers and soft drinks. This is an innovation.
