

Egyptian Narrative Interior Design

To meet the demand for contemporary interior design and furniture inspired by Egypt from the client.

by Oksana Butman
www.butmandesign.com

Nefertiti Mirror

Copper, mirror
(750x30xh1100mm)

Giza Console

Acacia wood

(1400x400xh770mm)

Giza Shelves

Concrete effect material

(2800x400xh1800mm)

Scarab Table

Oxidized Copper,

sandstone

(1300x900xh870mm)

Throne Chair

Acrylic

(500x900xh1040mm)

Hallway interior
design inspired by ancient Egypt.
View 1.

The inspiration for the Display Ginza Shelves was stepped pyramids, and I used concrete instead of the original limestone because there are many materials with a concrete effect.

Hallway interior design inspired by ancient Egypt. View 2.

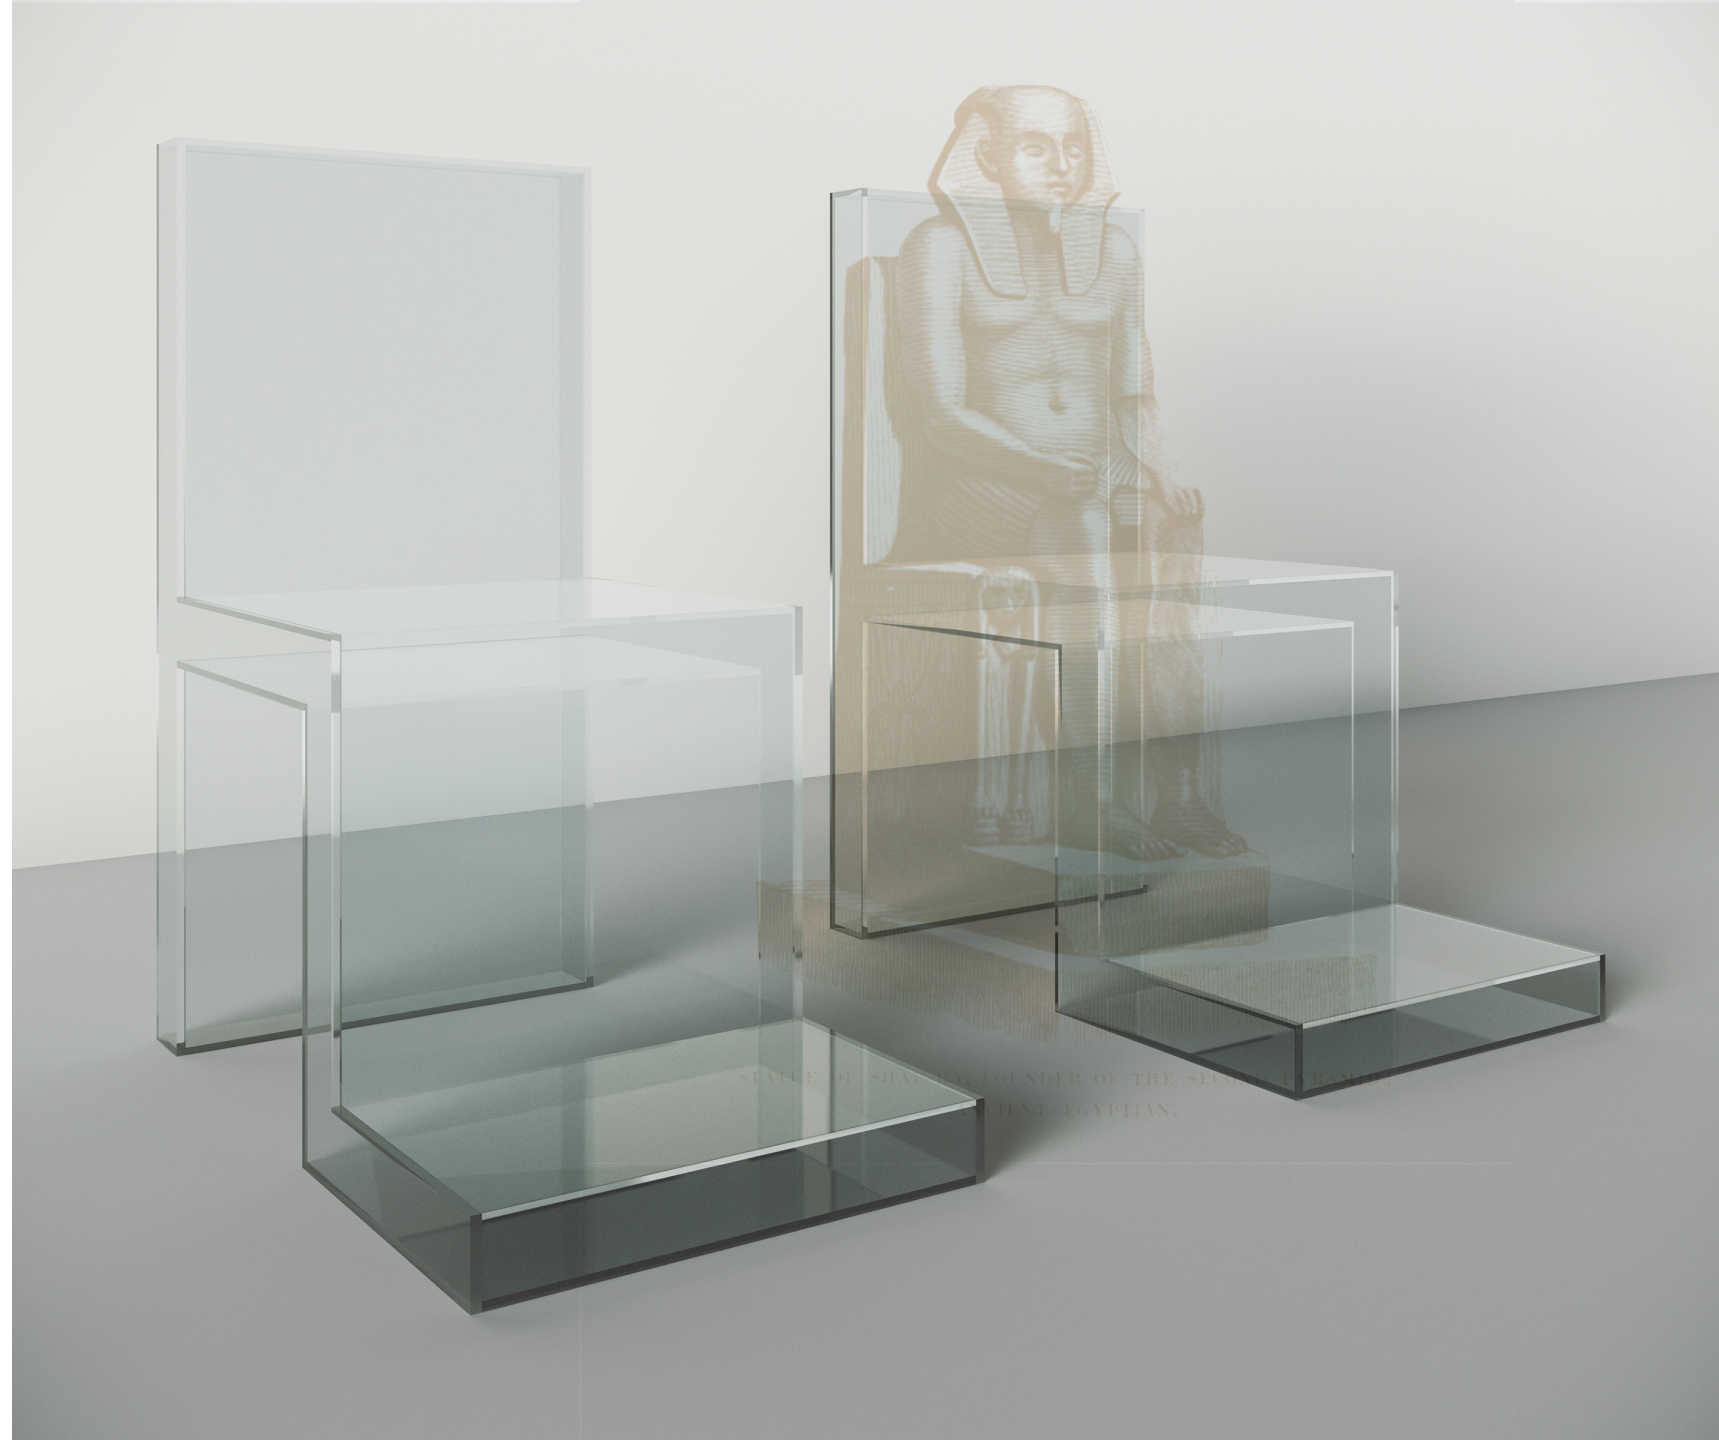

Nefertiti Mirror was inspired by the bust of Nefertiti. I used copper widely used in ancient Egypt for the contours of the mirror and as the color of the mirror because of the same shade as the bust of Nefertiti.

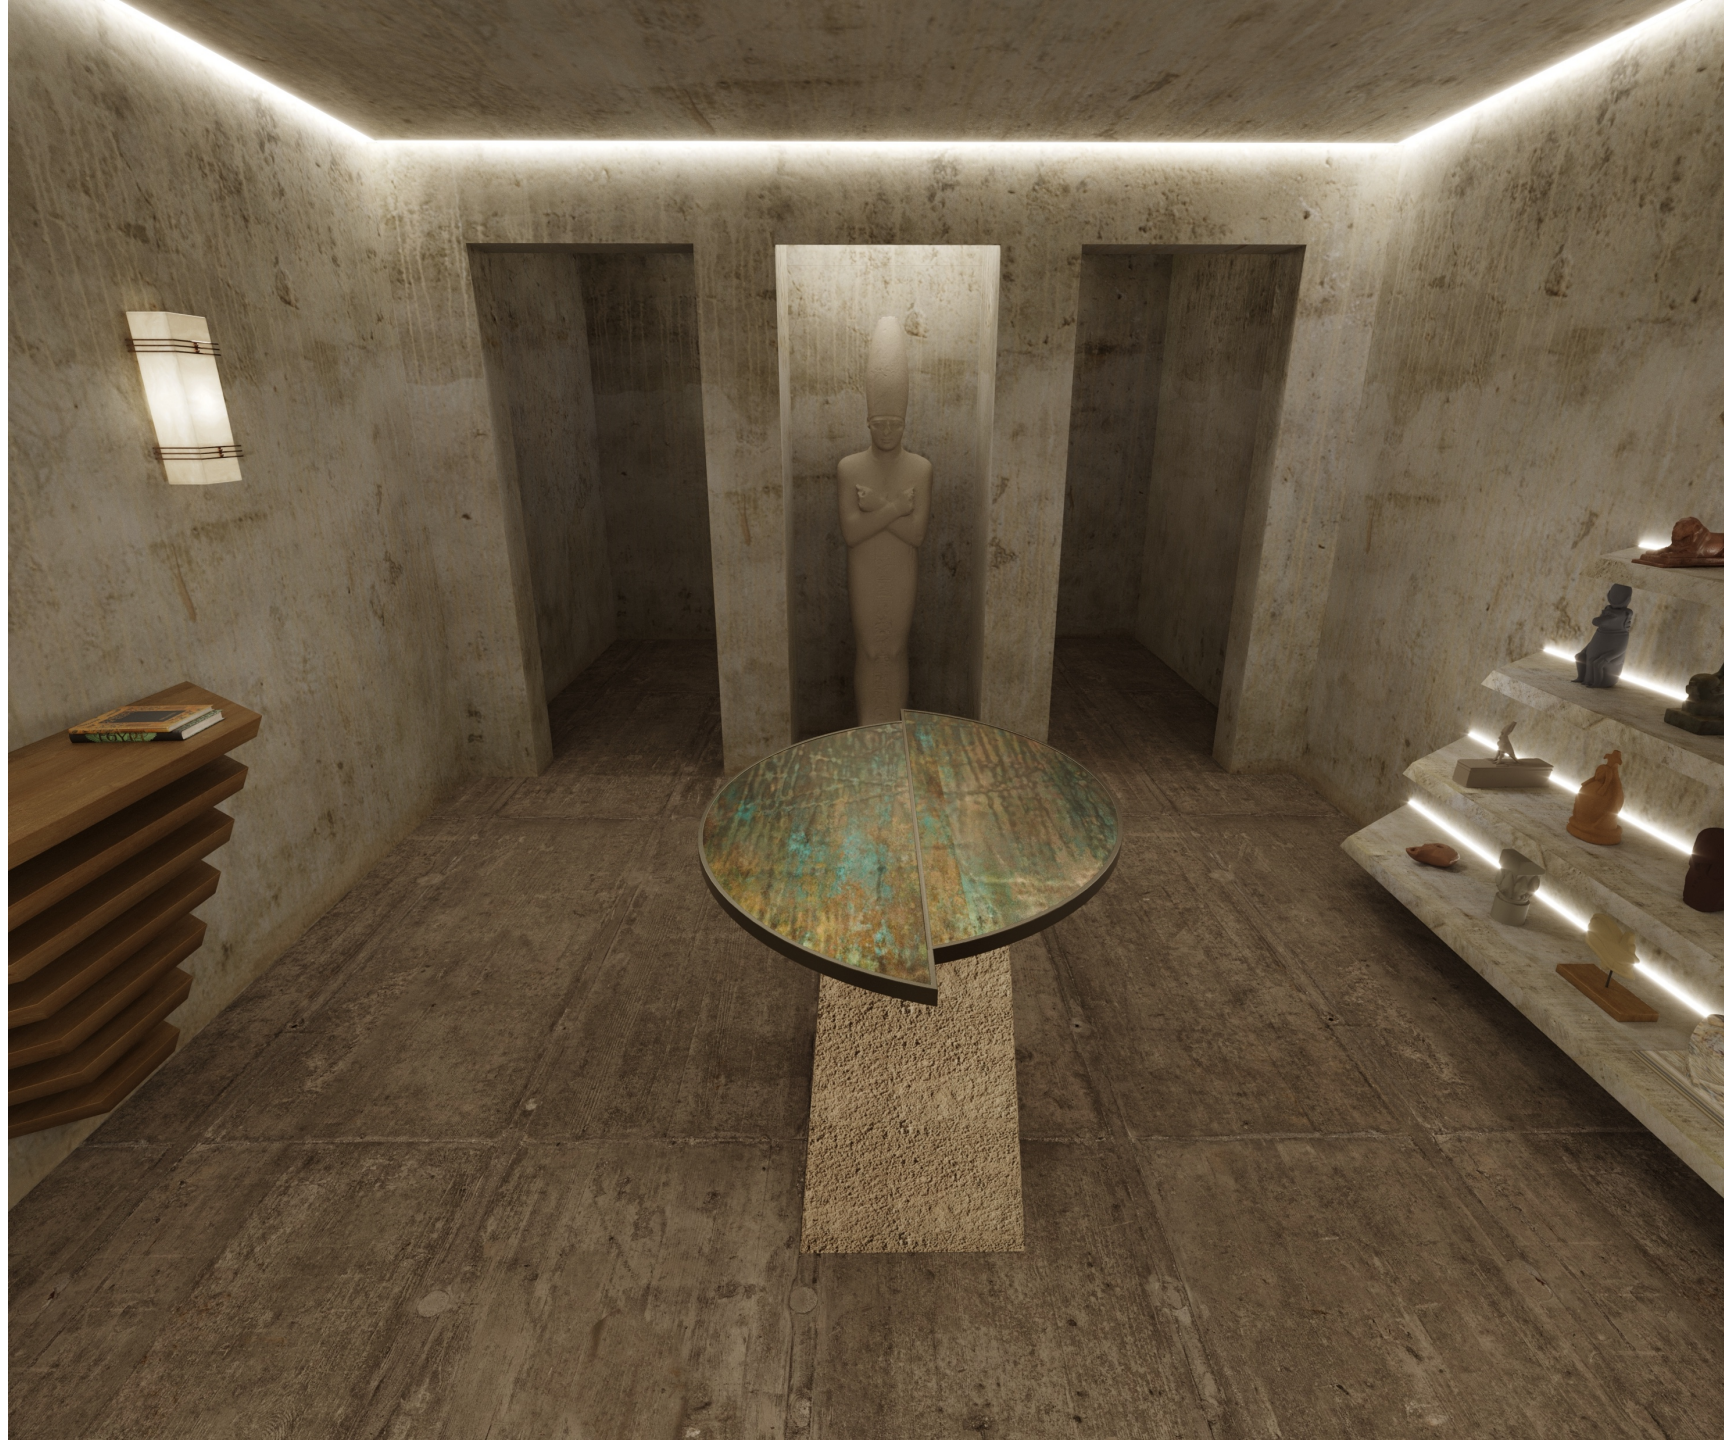

Hallway interior design inspired by ancient Egypt. View 3.

When I saw the thrones of the pharaohs, I could not resist the design of an allegorical Throne Chair for the owner of the interior, and instead of stone I used transparent acrylic like the Kartell company, which is also durable and resembles glass that was used in ancient Egypt.

Hallway interior design inspired by ancient Egypt.
View 4.

I could not pass by the scarab, whose shape and colour inspired me to create Scarab Table. The top of the oxidized copper table and the sandstone pedestal look like a scarab has landed on a temple.

I want viewers to see importance of history of ancient Egypt and how it could be embodied in contemporary design - this strong bridge between ancient and modern life.